The Lingerie Rocks show has been one of Paris Fashion Week's highlights.

At the catwalk event, 14 different designers debuted their new garments.

Models dazzled as they walked down the runway in the intricate designs.

Red underwear seemed to be popular with the French designers.

One catwalk star was dressed in a sheer one-piece.

The body featured mesh panelling at either side, creating an hourglass silhouette.

Petal-like appliqué adorned the front of the garment, delicately covering the model's intimate areas.

Sparkly boots and leather arm bands completed the eye-catching get-up.
